MUST USE CARE IN BUYING POI-SON FOR BOLL WEEVIL

Success Depends Largely on Caution in Purchasing Materials

Essentials That Calcium Arenate Must Contain Listed for Cotton Farmers Attempting to Control Insects-Testing of Samples.

When a farmer goes to buy calcium arsenate for boll-weevil poisoning he should look carefully at the label. It should be printed on the label that the material is satisfactory for cotton dusting and that the manufacturer specifies straight use of the ma-terial without the addition of lime or any other carrier. This is the ur-gent advice of the boll-weevil special-ists of the United States Departmen' of Agriculture. If it is neglected, they say, the farmer may get mater-ial that either will not control the weevil or that will kill his cotton.

Danger in Careless Buying. Poisoning, they continue, will con trol the weevil, but the whole scheme is seriously imperiled by careless buying of poison. Much of the supply offered last year was worthless or worse than worthless. Many con cerns are beginning the manufac-ture of calcium arsenate, and there is danger that there will be even a large percentage of unsatisfactory material than last year unless care is exercised in purchaing. As farmers are already making their purchases, or will shortly do so, now

s the time to exercise such care, The farmer should not buy calcium arsenate merely because it is labeled or sold as such, the specialists say, but should buy calcium arsenate by specifications. It should contain not more than three-fourths of 1 per cent of watersoluble arsenic pentoxide, on account of danger of burning plants. It should contain not less than 40 per cent total arsenic If it contains much less it will not control the pound. Otherwise it will not thusiastic applause. Mrs. Livermore cessfully with it. In purchases of any size, samples should be taken from at least three packages. A safe rule is to take a sample for every 10 package. Feeb care. tory of the material should accompany the samples.

Success in boll-weevil poisoning, the specialists point out, depends on observance of these precautions. The farmer who is not willing to exercise that measure of care would be wise not to attempt poisoning at all.
